"My German students got a great start to their research because our librarians got resources lined up and reviewed MLA style with them in the lab. Tim was so excited about their projects that his enthusiasm rubbed off on the students. It was amazing!" - Tara Thompson

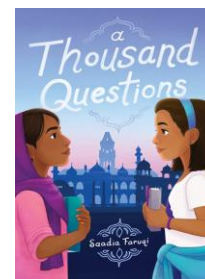

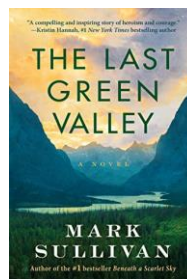

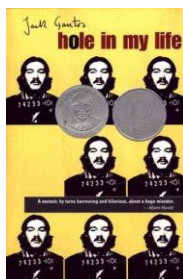

"The librarians are an incredible resource for teachers as well as students. They can enrich your lessons by teaching your students a specific skill, like an internet searching strategy or how to use a database. They can also help with essays or writing projects to strengthen literacy skills. They have many "ready to go" lessons as well. Schedule a meeting with them to see how they can help!" - Jamie O'Malley
